Maine Farm Days 2019, August 21-22

Maine Farm Days gives the public and farmers the opportunity to visit a working farm, see the operation of new equipment and technology, and provide an atmosphere for everyone to walk through, observe, and educate themselves about the different areas of agriculture.

Misty Meadows Farm of Clinton, Maine is owned and operated by John and Belinda Stoughton and Thomas and Kimberly Wright.

The farms current milking herd is 700 and 500 young stock. The total herd has risen from 200 total in 1996.

Milk quality is a key success area with less than 100,000 somatic cell count on milk and a current 28,000 lb herd average. All their milk is shipped to Agri-Mark.

Their farm is comprised of 1200 acres of cropland with 600 in corn production and 600 of grass silage, of this total 300 acres are rented.
